GOODY, GOODY I'm in school! proclaims a grinning Teresa Paddock.

KINDERGARTEN seemed a pretty scary place for little Stacey Tucker.

THREE LITTLE GIRLS FOR SCHOOL are we, the only three kindergartners who chose to ride the giant yellow school bus along Carmel Valley Road on Monday morning.

From top to bottom are Christina Griffith, Kristina Neill and Lori Viljoen. This was the last day for retiring bus driver George Pullman.

TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The word "gentle" would have been a perfect description of Carmel Valley 75 years ago when there were relatively few people here but the mood is quite different today. There is a noisy and disruptive group at work in Carmel Valley which seems to have nothing better to do than harass a fellow resident. The attack on Mr. and Mrs. Hood by the more than 1500-member Peace and Quiet Committee has been anything but gentle and far from constructive.

Marian Weygers' statements in the Outlook, 9-9-71, to the effect that local government had not given any consideration to the pleas of citizens concerned about the airport are completely false. The Monterey County Planning Commission and the Monterey County Board of Supervisors spent a great amount of time considering the airport problem and the Peace and Quiet Committee had ample time to voice its views. Concerned citizens got consideration; local government just did not concur with their feelings. They lost a fair contest in which they had the odds at the outset. They stripped the Hoods of their life savings in the process. When the Committee continued its course of action after losing to the County it was not surprising that the Hoods filed suit. It is common practice when suing a large organization to name specifically the principals involved. I am sure these people were aware of the risk they were taking when they began their campaign.

The public and private faces of some of the members of the Peace and Quiet Committee seem to be looking in opposite directions. One member, a leader in the Committee, who had previously voiced his opinion that increased use of the airport would lower property values in its vicinity recently sold his house near the airport, reportedly for a profit. He then purchased another piece of property which is directly under the traffic pattern of the airport. It has been reported that he would like to sell several small lots on his newly acquired acreage for people to build houses on. The published price of this property was considerable and it will be interesting to know how strong this man's convictions are if a future purchaser turns out to be an airport user.

If, in fact, the purpose of the Peace and Quiet Committee is to combat noise pollution in the Valley they have been operating with blinders on. The airport makes some noise when a plane takes off but the amount of bothersome noise amounts to very few actual minutes during the day. Conversely, the noise of loud automobile engines and squealing tires and motorcycles can be heard twenty four hours a day.

Carmel Valley airport will never be big. The Hoods did not come here to harm anyone but are being harmed by being here. I think it is time for everyone to think about the meaning of peace and apply it in Carmel Valley.

Sincerely,
ROBERT R. MARBLE

Supervisors urge early construction of Hatton Canyon Highway

The board of supervisors Tuesday adopted a resolution "urging early construction of the Hatton Canyon Scenic Highway portion of Highway No. 1." Similar action was taken by the Carmel City Council last week, with the backing of the Carmel Citizens Committee.

Supervisor Willard Branson, who represents the Fifth District encompassing the Carmel area said of the highway: "We just can't live without it. Traffic is getting terrible (on the existing Highway 1) and we have to move."

He said he was planning to attend a meeting of the State Highway Commission Sept. 21 and would press the matter, "now that we have solidarity."

Because of earlier opposition from property owners and environmentalists, the state had dropped the proposed highway to the bottom of its priority list.

Text of the resolution follows:

WHEREAS the Hatton Canyon route was recommended to the State of California by the city of Carmel by the Sea in Resolution No. 1373 adopted on July 24, 1953 as a desirable alternative to widening the present Highway No. 1 between Carmel River and the top of Carmel Hill and

WHEREAS the recommendation for a freeway in Hatton Canyon was included in Carmel's General Plan which was adopted on Feb. 5, 1959 and which is still in effect and

WHEREAS on May 21, 1970, the State of California established Highway No. 1 along the Hatton Canyon Route from Carmel River to Highway 68 as a Scenic Highway.

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED:

That the Board of Supervisors of the County of Monterey urges early construction of the Hatton Canyon Scenic Highway portion of Highway No. 1 and

That in the construction of the Hatton Canyon Highway every effort be taken by the State to preserve as much of the natural beauty of the area as possible including the forest on the easterly slope of the canyon in keeping with its status as a scenic highway.

Carmel's Great Sandcastle Contest set for October 3

Kids from two to 92 and older will be thrilled to note that the 10th Annual Great Sandcastle Contest is set for Oct. 3 at the base of Eighth Street on Carmel Beach.

The blockbuster event that draws professional and would-be builders from all parts of California, is sponsored as usual by the Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Institute of Architects.

Spokesman for the one day event, Don Brown, said an information table will be set up on the beach near Eighth street. Judges for the no-registration-fee contest will be announced at a later date, he said.

Brown warned that "dogs should be left at home or kept on leashes during the contest," to avoid possible canine misadventures among the sand masterpieces.

Slow builders can start as early in the morning as they wish but all must finish by 2 p.m., in time for judging, to be eligible for the many prizes.

ALL AT ONCE there is a lot of activity going on around the Mid-Valley Shopping Center. Carmel Valley Road, running along the right side of this photograph, is being widened to include full 8-foot shoulders and right and left turn lanes. There will still be only a single lane in each direction for through traffic when work is completed at the end of this month, but at the Tierra Grande Drive-Dorris Drive stretch it will in fact be five lanes wide to accommodate the turn channels. In the shopping center itself, a new building which will house a laundromat, health food store and pool supply store is almost completed. It is located just above the grassy area at the lower left corner of the shopping center. Still more activity is underway across Center Street, behind Safeway, where the first stage of a garden apartment complex is under construction by Porter-Marquard. These one and two-bedroom units are expected to be ready for occupancy in January.

Second appeal fails to impress supervisors . . .

Noto turned down on Mobile Home Park

By PAT GRIFFITH

Dr. Joseph Noto lost his latest bid to establish a mobile home park on Schulte Road Tuesday when the Board of Supervisors unanimously rejected his change-of-zoning request.

This was the second time Noto had gone the route from the Planning Commission to the supervisors in an effort to rezone 16 acres from KGJB4, or one-acre minimum zoning, to "X", which permits mobile home parks.

The first time he asked for 75 mobile homes on the property, but was turned down by the Planning Commission and the supervisors. This time he was after tacit approval for 68 homes, a density of 4.2 per acre. The matter came to the supervisors on appeal, following a second turn-down of the rezoning application by the planners.

Noto presented charts Tuesday to back up his contention that the county would gain a substantial boost in tax revenue if the mobile home park were allowed. Over a period of 10 years, he said, the county would receive $240,000 through a combination of state-rebated vehicle taxes and property taxes.

Noto said that if he subdivided the property under present zoning and constructed 15 homes valued at $30,000 each, the county would receive only $119,999 in property taxes during the same 10-year period.

"You have to get money from somewhere," Noto said, "and you can't keep getting it from the property tax. I feel I am offering you something that would be hard to turn down."

SUFFERING?

The dentist repeated his earlier arguments that Carmel Valley is suffering from a glut of one-acre parcels, that there is a need for moderate-income housing in the county, that the mobile home park would be screened from view by extensive plantings and would have a self-contained sewage treatment plant.

"If you can just think of this as a joint business venture, with you, the county, coming out on top," he urged.

The supervisors failed to see it in that light. "I've heard this matter before and I haven't heard any more today to change my position," commented Supervisor Loren Smith of Seaside.

Board chairman Arthur Atteridge said that "probably in some areas a mobile home park is satisfactory, and this might be the place for one. But I still don't think you can put 75 homes on that property."

NARROW BRIDGE

Supervisor Ellis Tavernetti voiced concern about the narrow one-lane bridge leading to Noto's property.

The motion for denial was made by Supervisor Willard Branson of Carmel Valley.

Appearing in support of Noto was Andrew W. Bennett, who owns 10½ acres on Schulte Road. Noto said he also had the signatures of 26 other Schulte Road residents favoring the mobile home park.

The only person to appear in opposition Tuesday was Bill Brown, representing the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association.

After Brown spoke, Noto addressed the supervisors with some bitterness and said: "If every one of you had a minority organization in your area such as this...that took up as much of the county's time and costs as the CVPOA does, with its negative approach, this county could never survive as a business enterprise."

CARMEL LAGO

The supervisors also took an informal look at the plans for Carmel Lago, the 92-unit condominium development now under construction on the southern side of Rio Road at Carmel Rancho Blvd.

Engineer Carl Hooper told the board that although the development had been given zoning at 9.6 units per acre, the first increment will actually have a density of 7.1 units per acre.

"It is conceivable we could come in with a different use permit on the westerly part to pick up the additional density, but that is not our intention," Hooper said.

Branson leaned forward and asked: "What do you think your chances would be on that?"

"I would say not very good," Hooper replied with a laugh.

"I agree with you," Branson said.

Hooper said the first units will be ready for occupancy in about six months. The development will hook up to the Carmel Sanitary District's sewer line when new facilities are completed. It does not come under the construction ban imposed on new developments in this area because it had joined the Sanitary District before the building moratorium was imposed by the Central Coaster Regional Water Quality Board.

OUR CANDIDATE FOR "A GOOD HUMOR AWARD" just HAS to be Mrs. Lincoln Libby of Hitchcock Canyon. Fran has recently been seen transporting (on separate occasions) one pony and two burros along the Valley road in the back of her truck. "A CACTUS SPINE" to the individuals who continue to plague Community recreation areas with their senseless vandalism. Latest occurrences which have leaders of Valley organizations in a state of depression: the C.V. Little League Field on Paso Hondo where drinking fountains and water pipes were repeatedly beaten until they snapped—allowing water to gush until the field was flooded (six inches of water in one of the dug-outs) and waters lapped on the Paso Hondo roadside before it was noticed. A good deal of expense and time had developed the field for prime condition just prior to the All Star series with the Donkey Baseball game scheduled there for Sept. 26. A large hole was dug at the pitcher's mound... "fun and games" continued for the 'hoods' on Ford Road at the Community Center where a low estimate of $200 in damage followed the discovery of a break-in...The coke machine destroyed, two speakers, sheet rock pried off kitchen with silverware which had been donated to the Center...forks also used to pry open the shed at the Swimming Pool which fortunately was emptied of equipment. PLEASE...be aware of the increasing vandalism in the Valley. Too many residents have worked too many hours to provide the special facilities which so many persons are privileged to utilize. LOVE ISN'T ENOUGH!

Almost all parents love their children, but our teenagers are leaving home, regardless, because of a breakdown in communication. Some parents have learned to recognize and avoid 12 common blocks to communication and are replacing their old patterns with new skills as taught in Dr. Thomas Gordon's parent-effectiveness training. Parents learn how to keep channels open, build close relationships, develop responsibility on the part of the child and yet meet the needs of each person in the relationship.

Visitors will be welcome at the first session of the two new 8-week workshops starting in Carmel. The evening class will meet Wednesdays from 7:30 to 10:30, beginning Sept. 22 at the Carmel Middle School library. The morning class will meet Tuesdays from 9:30 to 12:30, the first session being Sept. 21, at St. Dunstan's Episcopal church, Robinson Canyon Road, Carmel Valley. FOR EVERYONE INTERESTED IN DEVELOPING GREATER MENTAL POWER

March, 1971, N.B.C.'s "Today Show" starting Hugh Downs featured a noted scientist from one of the nation's leading Veterans Hospitals, discussing Brain Wave research and some of the potential capabilities of man once he learns to control his own brain waves. Hugh Downs, with millions of viewers watching, demonstrated his ability to control his own brain wave, while attached to brain-wave feedback equipment.

This rapidly evolving science deals with the conscious control of the electro-chemical activity of the human brain. There are four principal brain waves: The Beta wave, 14 cycles per second and higher, associated with the outer-conscious levels of mental activity; physical activity, anxiety, tension, etc. The Alpha wave, 7-14 cycles per second, associated with inner levels of mental activity, tranquility, inspiration, creativity, concentration, E.S.P., accelerated healing process, memory, learning, and many other phenomena. The Theta Wave, 4 to 7 cycles per second, related to deeper levels of meditation, concentration, and potentially even greater learning and recall capabilities. And finally, the Delta wave, .05-4 cycles per second, associated with deep sleep or total unconsciousness.

It has been demonstrated that the Alpha wave produces a relaxed, tranquil state of mental alertness, and trained individuals can "turn-on" Alpha at will, effectively eliminating unnecessary worry and anxiety without the use of drugs.

PRACTICAL APPLICATIONS

Research and development of the practical application of this exciting new discovery has been pioneered by Motivation Research Center of Austin, Texas. M. R. C. researchers first developed a technique whereby an individual, in a few short hours through mental exercise, could control and regulate his brain waves without the use of feed-back equipment. They noted that trained individuals quickly developed a great deal of mental control, and when tested, showed marked increases in I.Q.

By combining M. R. C. techniques with Dr. J. H. Schultz's Autogenic research, students also learned how to control their heart beat, blood pressure, body temperature; in fact, a significant amount of the so-called autonomic nervous system. Students began reporting that many psychosomatic health problems improved or vanished completely. Many students eliminated migraine headaches, insomnia, digestive problems, tension, etc. The implications of this breakthrough in the area of health alone were staggering.

E. S. P. RESEARCH

As research continued, however, another even more dramatic by-product was discovered. E. S. P. could be learned. Students were found to be extremely sensitive to the feelings and emotional attitudes of others. Intuition was enhanced and techniques for sensing information at a distance were developed. Experiments were conducted with businessmen, and it was found that many could use telepathy to obtain information for problem solving and influencing others. In this manner they were able to successfully improve corporate profits by substantial margins.

Modifications of these basic techniques were developed for housewives, mothers, students, nurses, engineers and salesmen to allow them to control and direct their lives to new heights.

M. R. C.'s Board of Directors, which included a research scientist, formerly Chief, Flight Research, NASA, Houston, a medical doctor, a psychiatrist, a Presbyterian Minister, a Rabbi, a psychologist, and a sociologist, decided to release its findings. All the techniques have been refined and incorporated into the most exciting training program ever offered to the public.

The program is named . . . ALPHA DYNAMICS!

THOUSANDS OF GRADUATES FROM COAST TO COAST

Now, there is no longer any doubt as to the great value of this astonishing method of self-development. A recently completed survey of over 2800 graduates confirmed The Center's Expectations, and reported results like, "It changed my life," "Fantastic!", etc. A few hours of class time produced a more totally aware individual.

LEARN SPECIFIC TECHNIQUES

Once you have mastered ALPHA DYNAMICS you can totally relax any time you desire; banish fears, anxiety, pain and tension; have more vitality and energy; use E. S. P. to become more successful in business and your personal life; eliminate bad habits, like nail biting, smoking; control weight; create good habits. Improve self-confidence and assurance. Learn techniques for improving relationships; learn to become a better parent, become a better student, a better employee, a better employer . . . ALPHA DYNAMICS literally opens the door to the "PROMISED LAND" . . . THE KINGDOM WITHIN.

RESULTS GUARANTEED

It sounds almost too good to be true, yet the facts are that with ALPHA DYNAMICS, you can unlock the door to reserves of energy and capabilities you didn't even know existed. You can now become the person you wish to become. Make an investment in your greatest asset - - yourself!

At this special seminar, learn specific techniques for better memory, solving problems, eliminating fears, helping your children, and new effective relaxation techniques. You will also participate in an exciting ESP experiment.

FREE! Seminar Folder for home study, that contains a full color ESP-Brainwave chart, a "Character Assets & Liabilities" chart, and a "Progressive Relaxation Exercise" that can add years to your life.

This may well be the most interesting, informative and stimulating three hours of your life. Bring a friend!

CORPORATE PRESIDENT: "Controlled intuition must work. I'm making the right decisions more often than ever before. I'd like to see all our employees and their families complete ALPHA DYNAMICS." Wild pig season opens Sportsmen looking forward to the opening of wild pig season in Monterey County on September 25 are being reminded by the Department of Fish and Game that they must obtain permission from the landowner to hunt on private property.

Permission to hunt on private property is usually difficult to obtain on short notice, the DFG says. Persons interested in hunting on private lands should take time before the opening of the season to contact the landowners personally and ask for permission to shoot on their lands.

In Monterey County the wild pig season runs from September 25 through March 27, 1972, and the limit is one pig per day and one in possession.

Elsewhere in the state wild pigs may be taken any time of the year and there is no bag or possession limit.

EMERGENCY CALLS

The blistering temperatures pushed the fire danger in Carmel Valley to the extreme critical point last week, but only two fire calls were reported before the heat spell broke.

How to get ready for frost and save a little jack.

Shut damper when your fireplace is not in use. If you leave it open, cold air rushes in and furnace heat escapes. Also, shutting drapes over windows at night can stop up to 16% of the heat lost through windows.

Have your furnace man check your heating system now. Also clean or replace filters if necessary. That way you'll be sure your furnace is working efficiently and is ready for winter before the first cold snap.

Weatherstrip around doors and windows. This keeps the warm air in and the cold air out where it belongs.

Insulate. Good insulation in walls and ceilings can cut heating up to 45%. Which means it can pay for itself.

Don't touch that dial. Agree on a comfortable setting for your thermostat and leave it there. Frequent changes increase your heating bill.

If you follow these suggestions, you'll save heating dollars this winter. Your winter PG&E bill is usually higher than your summer one because you need more heat and light, eat more hot meals and use your appliances more. But when you think of how much PG&E energy does for you, it's still a bargain. In fact, even though inflation has forced rates up modestly after years of rate reductions, PG&E service remains your best household bargain.

CARMEL seems a long way removed from Jersey City, where 17-year-old Ed White grew up. Ed had shared a health class with fellow ABC student Peanut McRae, but had never actually spoken to his future Carmel roommate until they met at Dartmouth this summer. Ed was all smiles as he moved into his new quarters. "I expected it to be beautiful here, and it is," he said.

EVERYBODY CALLS ME 'PEANUT' " says Harris McRae, a 16-year-old junior from Jersey City, N.J. Peanut has played defensive end in football and guard in basketball. A budding sports writer, he spent much of last year working on a book about "the little men in basketball, the guards," which he tentatively titled "Tiny Titans." Peanut will be active on the sports front at Carmel High, both as a player and reporter.

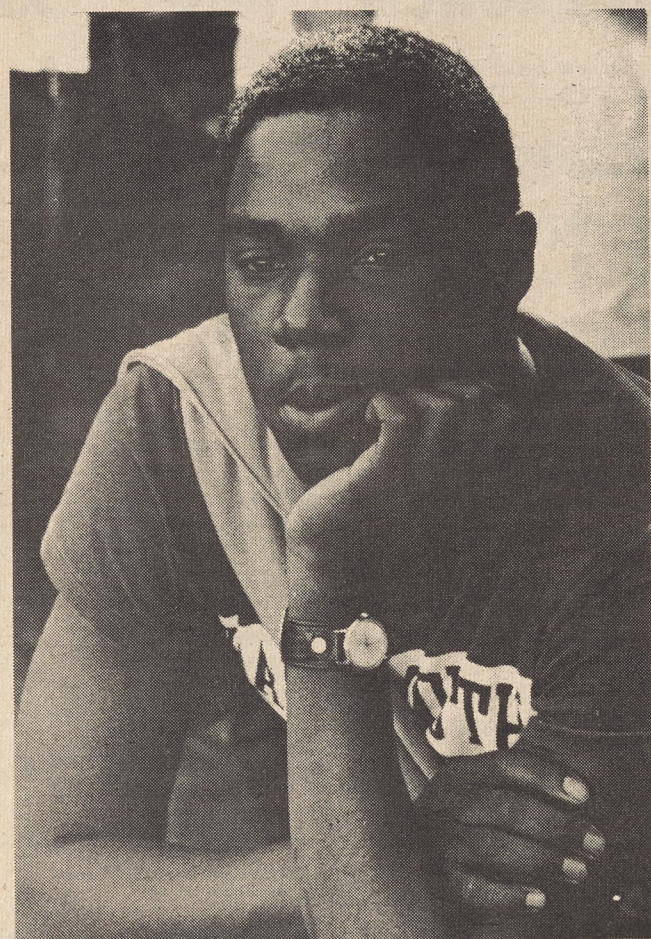

AN INDIAN STUDENT from Lupton, Arizona, Steve Beasley is one of two ABC students to enter Carmel High School as a senior. Steve spent his first days here as a guest of John Scroggs, the manager of the COMSAT station in Cachagua Valley, and his wife at their Los Tulares home. The Scroggs are among the many families in Carmel and Carmel Valley who have asked to host an ABC student on a regular basis during the coming school year.

THIS MAY BE THE ONLY TIME Luis Guitierrez is ever seen loafing at the ABC house. He lost no time in turning out for football practice at Carmel High, and will probably be one of the key Varsity players in the weeks ahead. A junior and 17 years old, Luis comes here from Tucson, Arizona.

Ten enthusiastic students will have 'A Better Chance'

ALTHOUGH HE GREW UP in Brooklyn, Al Jones confessed he had almost never been as hot as he was Sunday wandering around the scorching grounds of the Carmel Valley Trail and Saddle Club. The horse show was a new experience for Al, who celebrated his 16th birthday with a festive party at the ABC house Tuesday. Al is looking forward to playing football and baseball here, two sports from which he was excluded in the past because he couldn't afford to buy his own equipment. He's eager to go on to college, and thinks he might one day like to be in the Marines.

CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL undoubtedly has its first caribou hunter in the person of Bob Shelton, a friendly 15-year-old whose home in Kotzebue, Alaska, is 30 miles north of the Arctic Circle. Arriving here in the midst of a heat wave, Bob calmly spoke of winters back home when the temperature drops to 50 or 60 below zero. Kotzebue has one school for all students, which until this year ended at the eighth grade. An incoming sophomore, Bob hopes he'll have the chance to go horseback riding here. Someday he'd like to have his own plane to get across his home state.

For the 10 young men shown in these pictures, Monday meant much more than simply the beginning of a new school year. It meant, very literally, A Better Chance. These are Carmel's first ABC students, carefully selected from hundreds of applicants across the nation for their academic motivation and leadership potential.

They are here because the Monterey Peninsula in general and Carmel High School in particular offers them A Better Chance...a better chance to learn, to live, to develop their own talents, to fulfill their earnest ambitions to attend college.

Each student applied months ago to the national ABC office at Dartmouth College in Hanover, New Hampshire, for the opportunity—not available to them in their own home communities—to pursue a high school educational program that will give them the background, and the boost, into college.

Behind them now are six weeks spent at Dartmouth this summer with 120 other ABC students. During this intensive summer session, each ABC student attended classes for five weeks, with two hours of math, two hours of English, one hour of reading and three hours of mandatory study five days a week.

They arrived here a week ago, and Sunday moved into a comfortable adobe and redwood home on San Juan Road in Carmel Woods, where they will live under the directorship of Vic Selby, a math teacher at Carmel High, and his wife, Shana.

Two tutors from Dartmouth will also live at the ABC house, working at the high school during the day as teacher aides and helping the ABC students in the evenings.

Already, these students are making their own contribution to the Carmel community. Among them are several athletes (including a first-string varsity football player), an artist, a freelance photographer, and a potential columnist for the Pine Cone and Outlook.

Del Benjamin, director of the Dartmouth summer program, told an audience of parents in Carmel Valley Tuesday night that these students "are a particularly good group. They are all very amenable, and they are all very conscious of what they want in education. They've been through quite a selection process. We have great confidence in each of them."

ART, PARTICULARLY SKETCHING, is the major interest of Mario Pimentel. A junior and 17 years old, Mario is the one Californian among the ABC students, coming from Compton. His host family, the Wiesenfelds, live just up San Juan Road from the ABC house, so Mario spent his first weekend popping back and forth to help Dave Wiesenfeld clean and wax his car.

HOUSEHOLD MANAGEMENT has taken on new proportions for pretty Shana Selby. Accustomed to cooking only for her husband and daughter, Shana now will be preparing meals for 15, 12 of whom will be very active and very hungry young men. For the first night everyone enjoyed grilled hamburgers and mounds of pork n' beans. It's not the cooking that concerns Shana so much as the ordering. But she'll have help on both counts from a near neighbor, Letitia Watkins.

FRED WALKER looks thoughtful here, but the ebullient junior from Washington, D.C., is a happy organizer who jokingly introduces himself as the "house spokesman." Bowling and fishing are two of Fred's favorite pastimes. He hopes to attend college in the West and has his sights set on becoming an attorney. He'll be a junior at Carmel High School.

Community help sought for ABC program

The Carmel ABC program receives two-thirds of its budget from the national ABC program, centered at Dartmouth College. The balance, estimated at $6,000 for the first year, will be raised here by the Carmel ABC committee, headed by the Rev. David Hill of Carmel.

This local committee has already been very busy—locating a suitable home and furnishing it, arranging for "host families" who will include individual ABC students in weekend activities, and attending to the myriad details involved in settling 10 enthusiastic, energetic young men into a new home that is, for many, thousands of miles away from their own families.

The committee is looking for more help, both specific and general.

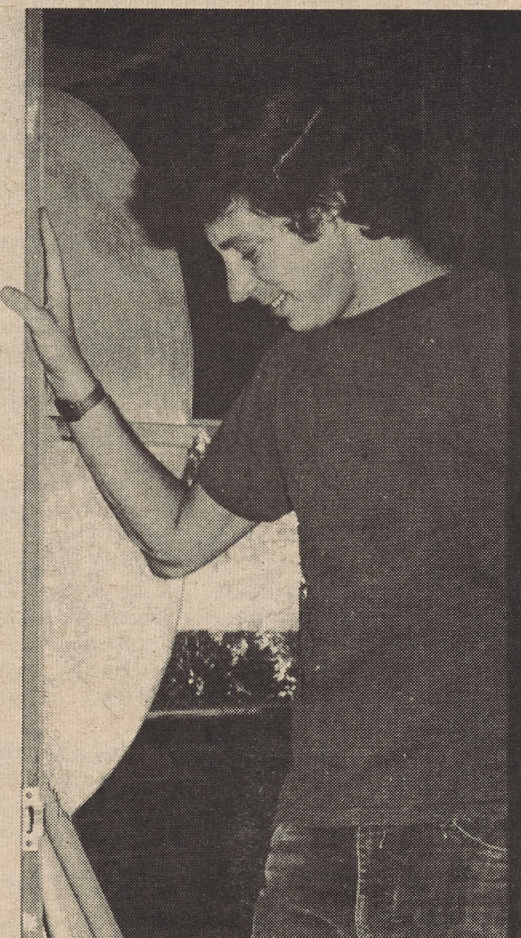

Among the specifics needed by the ABC house are toasters in working condition, blankets, desk and table lamps, glasses, large pots, electric and alarm clocks, wooden bowls, bread and fruit baskets, a dish drainer, measuring cups, a grater, good carving and/or paring knives, paperback books suitable for a house library and dictionaries.

Among larger items being sought by the ABC committee are a large freezer (to enable them to buy meat and other food in bulk), portable wardrobes, a coffee table, chests of drawers, typewriters, a blender, a phonograph and a pool table. Anyone who could donate any of these things should contact Mrs. Earle Wilsey, 659-4294, or All Saints' Church in Carmel or St. Dunstan's Church in Carmel Valley.

In addition, families who would like to welcome an ABC student into their homes for a Sunday visit should call the Rev. James Brock, 624-6646.

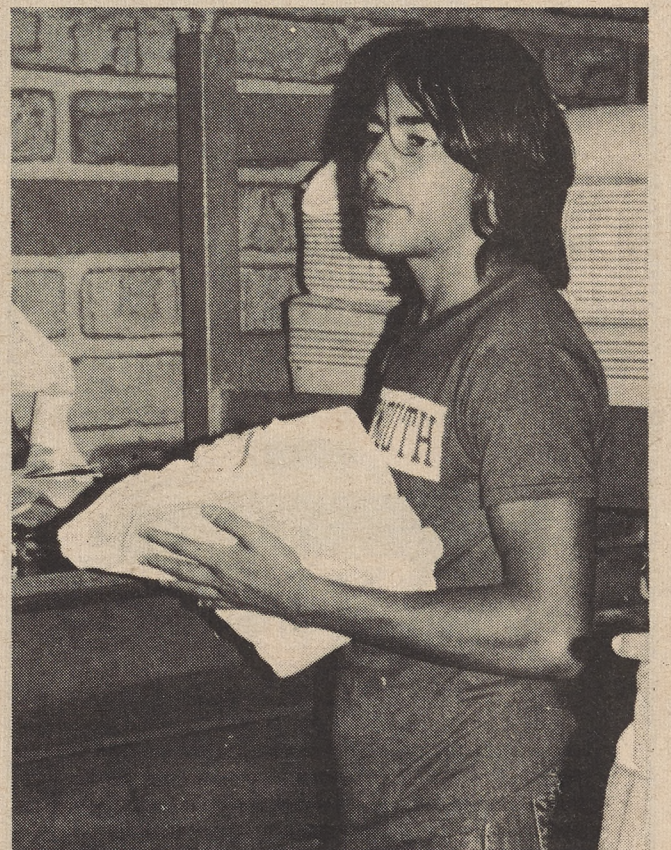

Anyone who would like to offer financial or other assistance should contact Mark Starr at 373-2636.

TEN PLUS TWO PLUS THREE adds up to a busy and buoyant household for Vic Selby, math teacher at Carmel High. As director of Carmel's first ABC house, Vic, his wife and 7-year-old daughter will be sharing a Carmel Woods home with 10 students and two resident tutors from Dartmouth College. "Somehow," Vic laughs good-naturedly, "I'm hoping to have to find time to prepare for my own classes. You could say that I'm going to be busy."

THE CARMEL AREA should be both an inspiration and education for Vaughn Edwards, 14-year-old sophomore from New York City whose great avocation is photography. Vaughn likes to develop his own pictures, and expects to capture the scene around him on film. Right now, however, he thinks his eventual career will be as a lawyer, not as a professional photographer.

JOYFULLY UNPACKING HIS CLOTHES in the room he'll share with two others is Saul Carrasco, a 17-year-old senior from Roswell, New Mexico. Saul is wearing a Dartmouth shirt, a reminder of the intensive 6-week summer session he spent with other ABC students at the New Hampshire college this summer.

Petpourri
BY JUDITH EISNER

THE RECENT heat wave that's swept the Peninsula, although due to break soon, called to our mind the plight of many animals whose owners are forgetful of their special hot-weather needs.

We decided, by stretching a point a bit, that we could consider horses as pets, especially since most people in this area keep horses strictly for pleasure and do regard them with affection. And at this time, as we drive past horse corrals, it strikes us that the pleasure horse is one of the most forlorn of creatures.

As most parents of pre-teen and teenage girls will attest, there comes a time in the life of their daughters when having a horse is the most important thing of all. Because many of the homes in unincorporated areas of the county are zoned for horses, the requests are often granted. Because this is a "horsey" area, it's often possible to buy a good horse for a few hundred dollars and a Shetland pony for considerably less.

The "where are we going to keep it" problem is easily answered: in a weekend, a corral of varying size is constructed, an old bathtub hauled in for a water trough, and the new horse is duly installed in his "home."

But have you looked at those "homes" recently? Have you seen the dusty, trampled-down "pastures," with hardly a weed braving the clay-like soil? Have you noticed the "pleasure horses," standing with heads down as the sun scorches their backs, the flies attack, and there's nothing bigger than a fencepost for shade?

There are degrees, of course, in the quarters people provide for their horses. You will find cleanly-swept corrals with one or two big oaks for shade and shelter, with a stable or lean-to for escaping the sun and rain and wind.

But there are probably more small paddocks about where the manure is permitted to accumulate, where the ground is hard and dusty, and there the horse in residence has little to occupy his time and few comforts to help pass it, unless his owner is present.

(A friend commented yesterday, when it was above 100 degrees, that horses can die of sunstroke if they cannot find shade to protect the tops of their heads.)

And we, being perhaps more sentimental than we ought, wonder how much effort it would take to clean out a corral now and then, and how much sprinkling it would require to provide a bit of green underfoot.

We know that it can be done, for we've seen examples of pastures kept green and soft and attractive, with clean water flowing into troughs, with shade trees spreading wide, where the horses have an opportunity to graze, to scratch against the tree trunks, to drink their fill, to lie down for a good roll in the grass.

We also know that it's much harder to keep a horse corral clean and comfortable than dirty and dusty, and realize that many people, in building a corral, don't fully understand the wear and tear a set of hooves can take on the turf. For that reason, many corrals are made too small -- which makes the ground take so many more steps -- and the grass can't survive.

There are experienced horsemen who insist that horses require no more protection from the elements than their own coats provide. "Look at them in the wild," they say.

But in the wild, not only do horses tend to grow heavier and thicker winter coats, but they have the opportunity to seek shelter from winter storms and summer sun.

When the sun bakes down on the arroyos and mesas where the last remaining mustangs graze, you won't find the horses trapped in a tiny fenced-in oven. You'll find them beneath trees or resting in the shade of overhanging rocks.

And when winter rains and winds sweep across the plains, you'll find any horse worth his heritage taking shelter beneath those same rocks, not standing, head down and streaming water, hock deep in the middle of a corral-turned-mud-hole.

(The same friend who commented on sunstroke, confirms that horses can only take so much wind, wet and cold before the start shivering and become ill.)

Each year, the SPCA comes to the aid of "pleasure" horses that have been starved, abused, beaten, or "pastured" in mire that reaches above their knees. And the owners of these mistreated horses somehow don't understand that their animals deserve or require any better treatment. They're just horses, aren't they?

Now that school has begun and the youthful equestrians of the area are pretty well tied up with schoolwork, the pleasure horse is denied much of the care and attention he was given during summer vacation. Now, too often, riding is reserved for weekends and holidays, as is stable-cleaning and grooming. The horse becomes a sometime thing.

And horses need attention -- and affection -- to keep them bright and up on their toes. It's as cruel to leave them entirely alone day after day as it would be to consign a dog to a drab kennel.

So you who already own horses, and you who are considering your first horse, give some thought to the pleasure horse's pleasure and comfort and well-being. Don't take it for granted that because he's a horse, he has no needs and no feelings.

No garish signs on Carmel Valley Road allowed . . .

Service station will have to stay just 'beautiful'

By PAT GRIFFITH

The Board of Supervisors decided Tuesday that the Shell Oil Company's station by Quail Lodge should remain just as unobtrusive and aesthetically pleasing as it appears on television commercials touting Shell's concern for the environment.

By a 5 to 0 vote, the supervisors turned down an appeal by the oil company for permission to put a 15-foot high illuminated plastic sign on Carmel Valley Road to advertise gasoline prices under the familiar red and yellow Shell emblem.

Supervisor Willard Branson went one step further and directed Zoning Administrator Robert Slimmon to make certain that the award-winning station remove a long yellow arrow that had been added without County approval to the discreet redwood sign now fronting Carmel Valley Road.

In appealing Slimmon's earlier denial of the zoning variance for the towering sign, Ray E. White of San Jose said the company was only asking for the same exposure to traffic now enjoyed by other Carmel Valley service stations.

"We're not asking for any special privilege," White said, noting that the extensive landscaping around the station, and the fact that it is located below the level of Carmel Valley Road, obscures it from Carmel Valley Road.

Bill Bartlett, the present manager of the station, told the supervisors he has invested $18,000 in the station since he leased it 13 months ago "and I've taken nothing out."

"If I could just get my share of business from the highway," Bartlett pleaded, "it would be a success. I have built up a good local business."

The supervisors noted, however, that the original concept of the station was as an adjunct to Quail Lodge and the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club, and that as such, it was not entitled to the same commercial privileges enjoyed by service stations located in shopping centers. No stations in the Valley have roadside price signs, although some advertise prices from interior windows, which are not covered by zoning laws.

Branson said that when the use permit was granted for the service station in 1966, Ed Haber, president of the CVG&CC, promised that there would be no service station signs visible from Carmel Valley Road. This was made a condition of the original use permit.

VARIANCE

In 1968, Shell Oil Company was granted a variance for the present off-site sign, which covers a total of 17½ square feet. This permit is due to expire on June 13, 1973.

Branson said that while he feels "sympathetic and empathetic" towards the local dealer, he feels that Bartlett may have been misled by the company regarding the restrictions imposed on that particular location.

Commenting that the station has won an award for its attractive appearance, Branson observed that "it certainly was not on the basis of a sign."

The award Branson referred to was conferred on the Valley Greens Shell by the American Association of Nurserymen at a national awards luncheon held in Washington, D.C. last October.

The local station was one of nine in the entire nation to receive a coveted first place award, chosen from firms and companies representing 236,000 service stations.

The award was presented for excellent landscaping and contributing to good community and business relations, and was initiated by the Nurserymen's Association "to encourage environmental improvement in business and industrial communities."

The station was designed by Monterey architects Hall and Goodhue, and Charles R. Haugh of Salinas did the landscaping.

The Shell Oil Company subsequently honored Haber at a luncheon held at the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. In turn, Congressmen Burt Talcott and State Senator Donald Grunsky commented the oil company for fighting "visual pollution." The company also received a congratulatory letter from Governor Ronald Reagan.

At that time, Shell's regional vice president E.F. McGee said: "We realize that the environment of our service stations can contribute to community beautification. It is also good for business because customers like to see a well designed and landscaped service station which adds to the beauty of their community."

The oil company has since made extensive use of the station on television commercials as evidence of its environmental concern.

Bob Bussinger may open Sunset Center Coffee Shop

An ad hoc council committee will study a request to establish a coffee house at Sunset Center on what is now an unused kitchen on the lower level facing Mission Street.

The lessee would be Robert Bussinger of Carmel Valley. The use has been recommended by the cultural commission.

Lois Renk, chairman of the commission, told councilmen at their meeting last week "that the need is getting to be pretty great" at the center for such a service.

She said the coffee house would "be at a very minimum cost to us."

Councilman Eben Whitteley said that despite

Carmel's 50-odd restaurants, there was nothing near Sunset that approaches "meeting this need."

Mayor Barney Laiolo agreed. He said he is often approached by people who want to know where they can "get a sandwich after nine in this town."

Bussinger's coffee house would not have any cooking facilities. It would offer various types of coffees, pastries, soups, salads, and prepared sandwiches that could be heated.

Bussinger said the coffee house would be of "Bavarian style" and would be a meeting place for "patrons of the arts."

Former Carmel Valley woman honored by aerospace group

Unique is the honor accorded Mrs. Eugen G. Reinartz, formerly of Carmel Valley, who was elected an Honorary Fellow of the Aerospace Medical Association at its recent convention in Houston, Texas.

Twenty-six new Fellows were elected, but only one Honorary Fellow, by unanimous selection, according to Dr. Merrill Goodman, secretary of the Association.

The Aerospace Medical Association has a membership of 5,200. It is an international group comprising not only medical doctors in this field, but leading aviation people whose work has advanced the purpose of the Association.

While the membership does include women in such professional categories as flight nurses, pathologists, etc., Mrs. Reinartz is the only non-professional woman so honored.

Her husband, the late General Eugen G. Reinartz was named in the history of aerospace medicine as chronologically the fourth of the six pioneers. He was one of only two serving a two-year term as president of the organization.

He was elected a Fellow in Aerospace Medicine in 1945 and in 1966 the Association gave him the Theodore C. Lyster Award for achievement in the general field of Aerospace Medicine.

General and Mrs. Reinartz attended the annual meetings of the Aerospace Medical Association faithfully over the years, always taking an active, creative and inspiring part in the work of the Association.

In transmitting the Certificate of Honorary Fellowship to Mrs. Reinartz, Dr. Goodman wrote: "It is now my honor and privilege to send to you with this letter your certificate. I only wish it were possible to present it to you in person, but that just can't be. With this certificate goes the love, affection and very best wishes of the Fellows. We are so proud to have you one of us."

The certificate reads, "Mrs. Eugen G. Reinartz has been elected an Honorary Fellow in Aerospace Medicine because of her outstanding contributions to the subject."

New 4,756-acre Toro Regional Park opens

Toro Regional Park on the Monterey-Salinas Highway will be officially opened at 11 a.m. Friday at ceremonies led by Arthur Atteridge of Salinas, chairman of the Monterey County Board of Supervisors.

The park covers 4,756 acres and is the largest county park in California. It is located one half mile west of the Salinas River, opposite the entrance to Toro Park Estates.

It was purchased in 1969 for $1,330,000, with Monterey County paying approximately $300,000 and state and federal funds from the Housing and Urban Development Agency making up the balance.

For the first stage of development, the county is supplying picnic facilities for 1,000 people, parking lots, restrooms, roads, hiking trails and a maintenance facility.

Future development calls for youth day camping areas, additional hiking and riding trails, an administration building, archery ranges and other recreational facilities.

The park will be open for use daily from 8 a.m. to dusk. The formal dedication of the park will be Sunday, Oct. 17.

Enrollment up slightly in schools

Carmel schools had enrolled 2,979 students as of Tuesday afternoon, four above the total anticipated enrollment for the school district.

At individual schools, there were unexpected drops in enrollment at some grade levels and increases at others.

Both the high school and Middle School have more students than had been expected. As of Tuesday, Carmel High School had 1,052 students, with 13 more enrolled in the continuation program, for a combined total of 1,065. The estimate had been 1,044 students.

Middle School enrollment stood at 699, three more than anticipated.

At the elementary school level, both River and Tularcitos schools are slightly under their projected enrollment, with Carmelo, Woods and Captain Cooper right on the mark.

These are the second day enrollment figures, with the projected total in parenthesis: River, 423 (426); Tularcitos, 370 (385); Carmelo, 216 (216); Woods, 144 (145); Captain Cooper, 62 (63).

Within each school, however, there were some big surprises.

River School had expected 72 kindergartners, but only 50 had turned up by Tuesday. The same situation was true at Tularcitos, which has planned for 62 kindergartners and got only 53.

Both schools also have an unexpectedly large drop in the first grade. River had 57 first graders, compared to a projection of 72 students, and Tularcitos has 53 first graders when 62 had been anticipated.

In contrast, River School showed a surprising bulge at the higher grade levels. Eighty students are in the third grade, where only 66 had been anticipated, and 72 are in the fourth grade, four more than expected. The fifth grade at River has 80 students, seven above the projection.

The second grade at River School has 75 students, exactly as expected. But at Tularcitos, the second grade is also down—only 61 students compared to an anticipated 68.

The third, fourth and fifth grades at Tularcitos are running close to predictions, with 64, 66 and 62 students.

Carmelo School has fewer students in kindergarten and the first, third and fifth grade levels than predicted. But there are four more second graders and 11 more at the fourth grade level than expected.

But one of the biggest surprises came at Captain Cooper school in Big Sur, which had counted on having only five children in kindergarten. But as of Tuesday, the kindergarten enrollment was up to 10.

Cypress swimmers win more honors

The Cypress Swim Club, which two weeks ago qualified a duet for Senior National AAU competition by cracking the "magic 50 point" score, repeated this accomplishment in both the solo and team events at the 1971 Far Western AAU Synchronized Swimming Championships last weekend at Paso Robles.

Kathryn Blevens made the qualifying solo score of 50.9, while her duet partner, Gerri Brandly, missed it by only half a point at 49.5, and teammate Kim Pilkenton was 1.9 points away at 48.1.

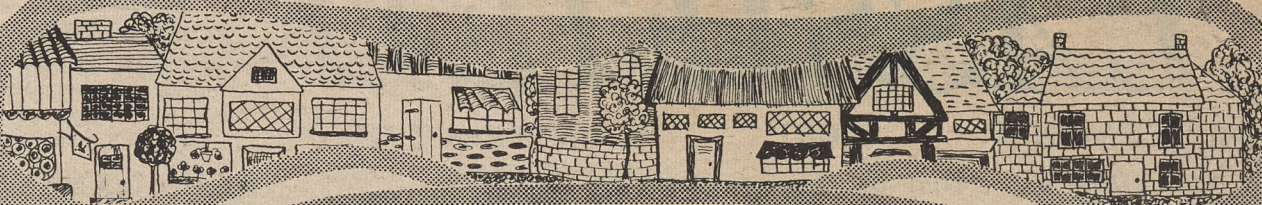

In duet competition, Blevens and Brandly, with a score of 50.9, placed 12th. This is a half-point gain over their score at the regional age group meet in Carmel Valley two weeks ago, at which time they qualified for Senior Nationals.

For the first time in three years, Cypress moved a team entry into the semi-finals at Far Westerns with a score of 52.4. Swimming in this event with Blevens, Brandly and Pilkenton, were Suzanne Calley, Debbie Jameson and Loria Shaw.

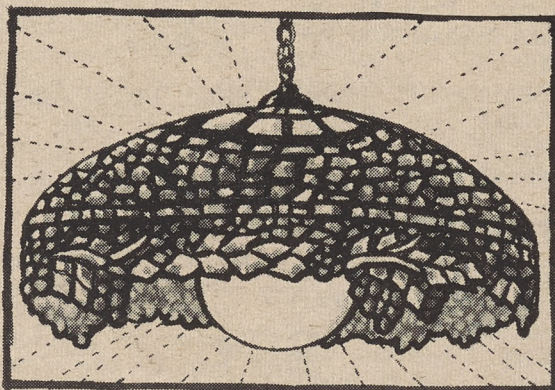

In the figures competition, the Cypress members scored as follows: Brandly, 31.435; Blevens, 31.370; Pilkenton, 29.600; Jameson, 29.370; Calley, 26.700; and Shaw, 25.015.

The Santa Clara Aquamaids swept the meet by winning first, second and third places in all events but teams, where second place went to the Walnut Creek Aquanauts. In the figures competition they took all of the top seven places. Other finalists included the Riverside Aquettes, the California Coralettes, and the Lakewood Synchronettes.

All the above members of the Cypress Swim Club will be joined by their teammates on Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 2 and 3 when the club's seventh annual fund-raising "Aqua-Spectacular" will be held at Rancho del Monte Country Club in Carmel Valley. Featured guests will include the Santa Clara Aquamaids, many times Senior National AAU Synchronized Swimming Champions, in addition to members of the Walnut Creek Aquanauts and the San Francisco Merionettes. All proceed of this annual fund-raising event benefit the non-profit Cypress Swim Club's travel fund.
